Christine .. I've been meaning to write to you. I've read part of the book and it has just blown me away. As an adoptee, I have never had direct contact with 1st mothers before and reading about the experiences and social expectations of these ladies has just made me so angry for what they went thru! I can only imagine that Intercountry birth families are probably also suffering similar issues??

Thanks so much for giving me a copy. I hope I can make it to the book launch but unfortunately won't be at the adoption conference as it's a bit too expensive for me on our one income at the moment!

If you'd like to write up anything to advertise the book I'd be happy to put it on a webpage on our ICASN site and make it available if you wish? Altho' I'm sure you're probably already working out how to make the book available over the web ☺

Cheers

Regards
